Tour By Day

DAY 1
Raccolta: The Olive Harvest

Your journey begins with a transfer to La Chiusa, a former olive oil mill that is now a charming country inn. Enjoy lunch featuring ingredients from the surrounding countryside. Harvest time means there is work to do, and we will jump right into the action, picking olives from La Chiusa’s grove before hopping on our bikes and riding to our friend Paolo’s olive oil mill to get our olives pressed. Taste the alien green olio nuovo (new oil) on warm bruschetta before pedaling back to the hotel. This evening, enjoy a thoughtful selection of wines produced around Montefollonica during an incredible Tuscan dinner.

DAY 2
Truffles

Set off riding through pastures and forests to join the village of San Giovanni. Here we’ll meet up with our friend Topa, a local truffle dog, and her human companion. They’ll lead us into the oak forests that make this area famous for both its black and white tartufi (truffles). Back in San Giovanni we’ll have a truffle-infused lunch at Donatella’s cozy Osteria. After lunch we’ll keep pedaling into the Brunello wine-growing region. It’s a big climb up to Montalcino, the medieval hilltown at the heart of the Brunello zone, but the effort is well-rewarded when we check into our five-star castle hotel.

Meals: Breakfast / Lunch / Dinner
Destinations: Montefollonica, San Giovanni, Torrenieri, Montalcino
Accomplished: 32 miles / 52 km, elevation gain: 2,270 feet / 692 meters

DAY 3  Chestnuts + Mushrooms

Today we will ride along the slopes of Monte Amiata, famous for the deep chestnut forests hiding a bounty of porcini mushrooms. Mushroom season in Tuscany means lines of cars parked along the sides of country roads as Tuscans head en-masse into the woods to search for these delicious prizes. We'll join in the fun, going on our own hunt before a Michelin lunch at a mountain restaurant. After lunch, pedal back to our hotel to relax at the spa. This evening we'll head back into Montalcino for a cooking class and dinner featuring porcini and chestnuts, of course, in the 15th-century home of our friend Lina.

Spend the rest of the day making your way across stunning Crete Senesi, stopping to visit the Renaissance frescoes at the Abbey of Monte Oliveto. Taste their selection of wines, from full-bodied Chianti Classico to Super Tuscans and sparkling whites during a private tasting lunch. After lunch, opt for a longer ride or a straight shot back to the hotel. Tonight we’ll convene for a joyous farewell dinner at our dear friend Serena’s Tuscan abode.
